	Course Name	CULTURAL GEOGRAPHY: EXPLORING KOREA THROUGH FILM
	Lecture Schedule	Mon-Thu / 13:00~16:00
	Course Description	This course will provide you with a fascinating way to learn more about our host country through an exploration of one its most influential art forms: film. We will place the history and development of Korean cinema in the context of the processes of social and cultural change that have taken place in Korea from the era of Japanese colonialization to the present, and use film as a lens through which to explore and understand changing Korean cultural practices, events that have shaped contemporary Korean history, and the images of Korean society that Korean film presents to the world.
	Course Objective	(1) Students will be able to provide an outline of the history of Korean cinema, and place this history in the broader context of historical events and processes of social change that have shaped contemporary Korean society (2) Students will gain familiarity with significant Korean films, and film directors, from each of the contemporary historical periods that we explore, and be able to discuss their significance as reflections of, and contributors to, processes of social change in Korean society at that time (3) Students will develop an appreciation for Korean film as a contemporary art form of global significance
